Mon Who May Bo Major-Generals Command ing the Corps-Arrangements for Meving how York's Troops-Fresh Food for the Camps... Two Regiments Short of Squipments. Something of the President's plans for the disposition of the volunteers for which he has alled was learned yesterday. As soon as prac-Monble after the militiamen have been mustered into the United States service at the points designated in the various States, they will, ac cording to the present plan, be formed into three army corps. These three corps are to make up the entire volunteer force of the army. At the time of the formation of the three corps, or earlier, the President will nominate three Major-Generals to command the three corps. Among those mentioned from whom the choice will probably be made are Major-Gen. Grenville M. Dodge of New York, who was a Major-General of volunteers in the civil war; Gen. James H. Wilson, the famous commander of Sherman's cavalry during the war; Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, Gen. Joseph Wheeler of Alabama, and Gen. Stewart L. Woodford.

When the corps have been formed and the men to command them have been chosen, they will be assembled at three points. Two of these points, it is said, have already been decided upon. One is Montauk Point and the other New London, Conn. The third point of rendezvous is yet to be selected, but it is probable that it will e Washington.

The arrangements for the moving of the National Guard of the State to the new camps at Hempstead Plains and Peckskill to-morrow have all be n com leted. Gen. Howard Carroll has been put in charge of the work, and to-day he will open beadquarters in the arm ry of the Second Battery, Thirty-third street and Park avenue. Gen. Carroll said yesterday that he felt sure there wouldn't be a hitch in the plans, and that the regiments would all be in their quarters early Monday afternoon.
"No such movement of troops has been at tempted in this State since the civil war," said Gen. Carroll yesterday. "Twelve thousand men are to be taken from all parts of the State and mobilized at the two camps. The railroads are ready to handle the men and there will be no delays. The troops from Buffalo and from other points in western New York will come here by way of the Erie road, and will be marched across town without delay, and special ferryboats will take them to Long Island City. From other points in the State the men will be brought here by the New York Central Railroad. and the Central will take the local regiments that are to go to Peckskill to the camp at that place. The Long Island Railroad has promised to take the troops away promptly. They will put in a apur and deposit the men directly on the outskirts of the camp.

Gen. Carroll applied to the Pelice Board yesterday for a sufficient number of men to see that the troops are not hampered by crowds in their march across the city. He was told that he could have all the men he wanted.

Major-Gen. Roe will probably go to Hempstead Plains to-day and establish his head-quarters. He will be in full command of the ew camp until the men have been enlisted and turned over to regular army officers.

Gen. Henry T. Noyes, Commissary-General of Subsistence of the State, came to town yesterday to see Gen. Roe about plans for feeding the men in camp.

"We have made up our minds," said Gen Noyes, "not to feed the boys on salt horse, We do not believe that it would do at al to start our citizen soldiers on the regular army camp diet. They are used to better things, and to start them off on salt horse and hard tack would be to breed sickness among them. I have signed contracts for food with several firms to-day and have secured Beveral refrigerator cars, which will be operated bn the Long Island road between Hempstead and Long Island City and between Man-hattan borough and Peekskill. At the latter place a caterer of experience will be in charge of feeding the men. He will be under the orders of Major E. C. Roessle. Lieut.-Col Hurry will be in charge of Hempstead camp There will be no luxuries provided for the men, but plenty of good beef, bread, and coffee, and I am sure there will be no complaints."

The officers for the two new companies of the Seventy-first have been chosen. Company L's officers are Capt. Edward F. Austin for Inspector of Rifle Practice; First Lieut. H. H. True, formerly Assistant Inspector of Rifle Practice; Second Lieut. W. L. Murray, formerly Battalion Quarter master. Company M's new officers are: Capt. W. G. Goldsborough, who was First Lieutenant in Company F; First Licutement, Altred N. Abell, formerly Battalion Adjutant, and Second Lieutentant, Harry Fisher, formerly Battalion Adjutant Battalion Quartermaster Rafferty has been elected First Lieutenant of Company F and E. D'K. Townsend First Lieutenant of Company A. Lieut, Townsend was Captain of Company A ten years ago, but retired. He reënlisted as a private when war became imminent.

The Ninth Regiment is short of full equipments for 300 of its men.

"I don't care how strong a man is," said Capt, Connor of Company A last night, "he could not stand camping in this sort of weather without blankets, ponchos, overcoats, and other necessaries. Yet if we go, and owing to the exposure the men fall ill, then we are laughed at and called 'tin soldiers' and feather-bed fighters' and similar names. We have put requisitions twice for the equipments and have had no reply. I don't know yet if the men who are without proper clothing and supplies will go to camp to-morrow morning or not."

Last night thirty men, sixteen of them of a number of years' service, were transferred from Company A to the new Company M. Sergeant Hargerty of Company A has already been apated First Lieutenant of Company M, and last night Corporal J. J. Tracy and Line Corporal Jacob Linious of Company A were transferred to Company M to act as sergeant and

There was to have been an election for Lieutenant-Colonel of the Sixty-ninth last night, but the officers got together yesterday afternoon and considered the matter. There was not the elightest semblance to a quarrel, and it was unanimously agreed that an outsider should be called in to the place. Lieut, J. L. Denovan of the Twenty-first United States Infantry, who is a friend of all the officers and popular with the rank and file of the regiment, was proposed, and the suggestion was adopted with applause. As a result, a memorial bearing the signature of every commissioned er of the regiment was forwarded yesterday atternoon to the War Department at Washing ton, and Secretary Alger was requested to appoint Lieut. Donovan to fill the vacancy. Lieut, novan's regiment is now at Tampa, but he is in the city. For four years he has been Adjutant at Governor's Island.

The Sixty-ninth reported last night that the equipments for the men were not sufficient to meet the requirements. Although requisitions had been made at Albany, the regiment is short 540 of each article of equipment. It is not believed that they will arrive at the armory in time to supply the men before they leave for camp to-morrow morning.

An order was issued last night by Col. Leonard for the assembling of the Twelfth Regiment at the armory at 5 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of making a final canvass of the men to find out it there are any who are unwilling to splist in the service of the United States.

All who wish to stay at home will be left at home, and after that the work of perfecting the erganization of the regiment by transferring men from the larger to the smaller companies will be done. There are already more than enough men in the regiment.

Col. Leonard had a good word for the Seventh Regiment last night. "It is all wrong," he said, "to ridicule the men of the Seventh Regiment because they are not going to the front. They ought not to go as a body of enlisted men, It, would be just as ubreasonable to More than half of the men in the Seventh are qualified to go as commissioned officers, as is the only way in which they should go.

The twelfth company to be added to the Eighth Regiment was mustered in last night. It consists of about fifty members of the Eleventh Separate Company of Mount Vernon. It will be commanded by Capt. F. R. Curtis, who was formerly Second Lieutenant of the company, McRay Living ston, formerly connected with the Park Board, was appointed Second Lieutepant, and ex-Lieut. Mulford, formerly of the Twenty-third Regiment, will be commissioned Second Lieu-

OFFICERS FOR PENNSYLVANIA. An Effort to Have Snowden Appointed Major

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 30, - Adjt.-Gen. Stewart was summoned hastily to Washington to-night by Secretary of War Alger. He saw Gov. Hastings before starting. It is believed that the Secretary of War wants to consult him finally about the appointment of general officers from this State. Major-Gen. Snowden is almost certain to be appointed a Major-General of volunteers, but it is a question whether the President will be able to give Pennsylvania three Brigadiers. He probably wants Gen. Stewart to help make a selection. Gen. Stewart was asked to-day regarding the story of his probable appointment as a Brigadier-General of United States volunteers. He said that if he was being considered for such an appointment it was without any knowledge or effort on his part.

"I know nothing about it," he continued, "and every effort so far as the Governor and myself are concerned will be, directed toward securing the appointment of the present gen eral officers of the National Guard of Pennsylvania. Under no circumstances will I consider an appointment as Brigadier-General unless it comes af er the appointment of the pres ent general officers of the Pennsylvania troops who are entitled to the appointments."

Gem Stewart will return from Washington to-morrow, and, with Gov. Hastings, will go to Camp Hustings on Monday to inspect the Guard before the mustering in of the troops. This afternoon the amended inspection order was issued. Instead of mustering in the three brigades at the same time, by taking the junior regiments in order it has been decided to muster the brigades separately, starting with the junior brigade and the junior regiment of each brigade. This will put the First Brigade through its paces first, starting with the Third Regiment. Col. Morrell was here to-day in conference with the Governor and Adjutant-General regarding the inspection. Pennsylvania's full quota of fifteen regiments of infantry, three light batteries of artillery, and three troops of cavalry will be ready to move beore the close of next week, and it is understoed that they will be ordered into camp near Wash

Capt. Alexis R. Paxton of the United States Army, who will have charge of the mustering in of the troops, reported to the Gevernor to day that he would be ready Monday to begin the ransfer of the troops from the State to the United States service.

PREPARING HEMPSTEAD CAMP.

It Will Be Ready for the Seldiers To-Morrow-Crowds Visit It.

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., April 30 .- From early this morning until sunset a steady stream of in-terested spectators in vehicles of all descriptions, from the four-in-hand of members of the Meadowbrook Hunt Club to the ramshackle and ancient buggy, rolled across the Hempstead Plains to the military camp where Company H of the Seventy-first Regiment is doing guard duty. Several thousand people visited the camp. The day at the camp was an uneventful one. There was not even a drill to break the nonetony for the soldiers, who were sunning themselves in groups. Col. Henry, Surgeon-General on Gen. Roe's staff, and Col. Bogart, visited the camp and inspected it. They seemed much pleased with it. In addition to the artesian wells that are being sunk at the camp s pipe will be run to it from the stand pipe of the demostead Water Works.

Rapid progress is being made in the work of suilding a switch to the camp ground from the main line of the Long Island Railroad. The elegraph line to the camp will be completed on Monday. The sites for the camps of all the regiments and companies, including the two cavalry troops, have been selected. Several members of Gen. Roe's staff were on the ground during the afternoon supervising the distribution of supplies and baggage. The camp proper will stretch a mile and a half across the plains and will be nearly a mile wide. It fronts the west, To the north about a mile lies the village of secupy a position on the extreme right front, and next to it will be placed the Sixty-ninth of New York. Next to this will come the Fourteenth of Brooklyn. Several carloads of tents arrived to-day and were hauled to the grounds. All the wood to be used as fuel in camp cooking has been contracted for.

The movement of the troops will commence to-morrow evening, and every preparation has been made to transport them with haste from Long Island City. To each regiment will be apportloned a tract 900 feet long by 420 feet deep. The company streets, which will have twentyfive tents in each, will run north and south at right angles to the main avenues.

President Baldwin of the Long Island Railroad is confident that he can send 10,000 soldiers and their equipments to the camp from Long Island City in eight hours, perhaps in six

NO YALE ARTILLERY.

Sov. Cooks Declines to Accept the Light Horse Mattery of Students

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 30 .- Plans of the promoters of the Yale Light Horse Artillery ompany have been shattered by the refusal of Gov. Cooke to give the company a commission. The Yale men are displeased with the Governor's action. He has obliged them to unite with companies from Branford and Guilford, two shore towns, to form Battery A. Light Artillery, and the offices are expected to go largely to the shore artillerymen. A few students of Trinity and Wesleyan colleges were eager to join the Yale company, but have not been heard from since it was known that they must take the field with the Branford and Guilford warriors.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30,-Brown Univer sity students, carried away by war enthusiasm. are neglecting studies to such an extent that President Andrews made an address at chapel this morning admonishing them to attend to "the duties immediately at hand until greater ones present themselves."

The unfurling of a big flag on Maxcey Hall was the occasion of a patriotic demonstration this morning which disturbed recitations. Borden D. Whiting of Providence, President of the senior class, has resigned his place on the Brown team for the Brown-Dartmouth debate. He is going to the front with the Rhode Island regiment.

GOV. HOLCOMB FLANKED.

War Department Wins in the Dispute Over

Nebraska's Volunteers. LINCOLN, Neb., April 30 .- The differences between Gov. Holcomb and the War Department over the matter of where the State's volunteers shall be mobilized have resulted in the department out-generalling the Governor. Instructions were received to-day by Lieut. Stozenburg of the Sixth Cavalry, the officer appointed to muster in the treeps, to proceed to muster in Nebraska's troops at once at Omaha. Notice was also sent that all who desired to volunteer from Nebraska should report at Omaha early next week, with the intimation that if the Guardsmen do not show up then others will be taken in their place.

pecial Trains to Hun Through the State To Sight and To-Marrow Collecting nrate Companies and the Buffale Berlment -Col. Fred B. Grant's Commit

ALBANY, April 30 .- The New York City Na tional Guard regiments selected for volunteer service in the regular army which have been designated to assemble at the Hempstead Plains camp by 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon will leave their armories on Monday morning at us early an bour as practicable. The hour will be decided to-morrow by Adjt.-Gen. Tillinghast. The Eighth, Ninth and Twelfth regiments of New York city, which are to go to the Peekskill camp, will start in time to arrive at Peekskill about 1 o'clock in the afternoon They will be taken up the river on Starin line boats, the free use of which has been tendered by Brig. Gen. Howard Carroll, Chief of Artillery on Gov. Black's staff.

The only troops that will move on Sunday are those in the western and southwestern part of the State. Six special trains have been arranged for the transportation of the troops from above the Harlem to Hempstead Plains camp via the Erie, the New York Central and the Delaware and Hudson railroads, the last con necting at Albany and Troy with the Central. One train will leave Rochester over the Central at 7 P. M. on Sunday with the First and Separate Companies. It will take on the Thirty-fourth Separate Company at Geneva at 7:30 o'clock and the Forty-first Separate Com pany at Syracuse at 9:20. The Forty-eighth Separate Company will leave Oswego at 8 o'clock on Sunday night and join this train at Syracuse.

A train will leave Buffalo over the Erie some time between 4 and 6 o'clock on Sunday aftersoon carrying the Sixty-fifth Regiment and the separate companies at Niagara Falls, Tonawanda, and Medina. A train over the same road will leave Jamestown about 6 o'clock on Sunday night and will carry the separate companies of Jamestown, Hornellsville, Elmira, Walton, and Middletown, arriving at the Jersey City terminus of the Erie as early Monday morning as possible. From there the troops will be transferred in boats to the Long Island Railroad station.

Four other trains will start on Monday morning. One leaving Utics over the Central at 5:30 A. M. with the Forty-fourth Separate Company of that city will take on the Thirty-first Separate Company at Herkimer at 5:45, the Fortysixth at Amsterdam at 7:15, and the Thirty sixth and the Thirty-seventh at Schenectady

The Sixth, Twelfth, and Twenty-first Separate Companies will leave Troy en another Central train at S A. M., and will be joined at the staion by the Seventh Separate Company, which will leave its Cohoes armory before 6 A. M. This train will be boarded at the Catskill station of the Central at 9 A. Another Central train will leave Albany at 8:30 A. M. with the Tenth Battalion, which will be joined at the station by the Third Separate Company of Oneonta, which will start at 3:55 A. M. over the Delaware and Hudson.

This train will be boarded at Rhinecliff at 9:30 A. M. by the Fourteenth Separate Company of Kingston, and at Fishkill at 10:45 A. M. by the Fifth Separate Company of Newburg. The above train schedule is incorporated in Special Order No. 70, issued by Adjt.-Gen. Tillinghast to-night, which says: "The organizations named herein will embark at their home station for the camps as indicated. Companies to consist of a Captain, s First Lieutenant and a Second Lieutenant, and eighty-three enlisted men, all properly armed, uniformed, and equipped, musicians being of the enlisted men the only ones not armed with rifles. All tents and Buzzacott stoves and cooking outfits, also regimental and company desks, medicine chests. ammunition at the rate of forty rounds per man, and arm chests, will be taken with the command. The surplus ammuni tion will be properly packed and placed in charge of the armorer, Receipts in will be given to station for the actual transportation received. Shortage in officers and enlisted mea or of property, including leggings, will be reported direct to the Adjutant-General at the time of departure. The senior officer on the train will be in charge Westbury, The Seventy-first Regiment will of the troops. On arrival at camp commanding officers will report to the commanding officer of the camps for assignment and duty."

The Adjutant-General to-night anneunced the appointment by the Governor of Brig.-Gen. William Barclay Parsons of New York city as Chief of Engineers on the Governor's staff. This office had not been filled previously. Gen. Parsons is a well-known engineer. He has not yet been assigned to duty.

Major Edmund H. Mitchell of the Fourteenth Regiment of Brooklyn and Lieut, Homer C. Croscup of Company H of the same regiment arrived here this morning to notify Gov. Black and Adjt.-Gen. Tillinghast of the election of Col. Fred D. Grant to the Colonelcy of the regiment. They came here te get Col. Grant's commission and were successful. They left here on an early afternoon train with the commission

The Adjutant-General to-day had a branch office of the Western Union Telegraph Company established in his department, where he will have his own operator and a special wire for the transmission of official messages,

Among the commissions issued by Gov. Black to-day was one to Dr. Louis Balch of this city as surgeon of the Second Provisional Regiment of the Third Brigade, about to leave this city for the Hempstead Plains camp. Dr. Balch was formerly Secretary of the State Board of Health. Dr. Chase Davis has been commissioned surgeon of the the first provisional regiment of the Third Brigade.

HACKENSACKERS STEP FORWARD Respond in a Busk to a Call for 20 Mor-

HACKENBACK, April 30 .- Forty-four regula members of Company G and thirteen recruits signed the roll of enlistment on Thursday night. Yesterday public notice was given that about twenty more recruits were required to fill the quota, and volunteers were invited to meet at the armory last night. Before the armory was opened there was a crowd of young men on hand eager to join the command. The officers selected those regarded as best fitted for the service, and the disappointed ones were consoled with the assurance that they would be placed on the waiting list. The new men were equipped and drilled at the armory for several hours to-day. The company nov has its full complement in the ranks. The office of Second Lieutenant has been taken by Bat talion Adjutant Aifred T. Holley, son of the Rev. Dr. William Welles Holley, his office hav ing been abolished under the war service rules. Major John Engel, who was prostrated by the dolorous news that he was to be left behind when the Second Regiment went to the front, was revived this morning by telegraph and tele phone messages from Gen. Plume and Adjt. Hilton that he should report at Sea Girt on Monday. In a short time the Major visited Company G, which he commanded for a quarter of a century, and officers and men cheered and indulged in a sort of war dance, causing resi dente for blocks around to imagine that some great victory had been won.

The action of Company E of Leonia, from which only twenty-one men and two Lieuter-sents voluntered, is a theme of general discussion. It is the color company of the Second Parimers.

FLAG HANDEERCHIEFS. The Stars and Stripes to Evidence Also

The demand for patriotic or flag handker chiefs has increased so materially during the last few days that a considerable advance in prices now obtains for these goods. Manufacturing plants in this city which last week were comparatively idle are to-day being operated to maximum capacity, and, in some cases, night work is done in order to make deliveries promptly. Stars and stripes and the Cuban flag are now intertwined in silk embroidery on golf and bicycle hose. Fancy prices rule, and there are bicycle hose. Fancy prices rule, and there are many small-scale manufacturers who have stopped work on staple lines in order to produce the popular goods. A leading hat concern in the wholesale market, on upper Mercer street, yesterday said to a Sun reporter:

"This Castillan-American war is a godsend to the bat trade. Last week it looked as though our season's business would go by default, but today the demand exceeds the supply of military caps for boys and girls, and the hurral consumption has only just started. The only thing that bothers us is as to bow long the work will leat. However, we are 'makin, hay while the sun shines,' and, strange to relate, there are but few objections to price. None at all, in fact, whore stock is re dy for immediate delivery."

It is said that prices of bunting and similar fabrics have been jumped about 200 per cent. in a few days. fabrics have b in a few days.

FOUR REGIMENTS PROM IOWA. The State's Queta of Volunteers Increased—All the Regiments Will Go Out. DES MOINES, Ia., April 30 .- The trouble over the reorganization of the Iowa National Guard for admission to the United States Army was settled, greatly to the delight of the members of the First Regiment, by an appeal to the War Department. The State was called upon for three regiments, but it has four fully organized. One had to be left at home, and Gov. Shaw and Adjt.-Gen. Byers decided to leave the First behind. The order was withheld, pending an effert to get the State's allotment changed so

Iowa could have four regiments instead of three. This afternoon it was accomplished through the efforts of the Iowa delegation in Congress and Iowa is to have four regiments of twelve companies of sixty-five men each, instead of eighty-four men to a company. The number of officers is not changed, but the State must give up the two batteries of light artillery assigned under the first call. All lows soldiers and citizens are making every effort to secure the appointment of Gen. James Rush Lincoln, now in command of Camp McKinley, as Brigadier-General in command of Iswa troops

THE MILITIA BRIGADES.

No Orders Yet to Gen. Butt of the First or Gen. Smith of the Fifth. Neither Gen. George Moore Smith of the Fifth Brigade nor Gen. McCoskry Butt of the First disposition will be made of him in the National Gen. Smith said last night that he was awaiting orders. Unless some orders come to-day neither of the Brigadier-Generals will go into camp with the troops. Gen. Butt is disappointed that the command of Peekskill Camp, where two of his regiments will be, has been given to Gen. Doyle, senior Brigadier.

It is surmised that the reorganization of the National Guard to fill the vacancies made by enlistments in the volunteer army will provide work for the Brigadiers not otherwise employed.

RICHMOND AS A RENDEEVOUS.

President McKinley Tells Gov. Tyler That Volunteers Will Be Sent There.

RICHMOND, Va., April 30 .- Gov. Tyler returned from Washington to-night, where he had an hour's interview with President McKinley in regard to the organization of the troops to be mobilized here.

President McKinley said that Richmond had been positively decided upon as a place to mobi-lize 15,000 troops, and he agreed that the troops should be sent here as rapidly as possible. He thought it would be well to send the troops by President McKinley said positively that Gen. Lee would be commissioned a Major-General. He would not commit himself to the appointment of Adjt. Gen. Nalle as a Brigadier.

President McKinley accepted an invitation to come to Richmond as guest of Gov. Tyler and review the troops soon as they are brought here.

The Long Island Railroad Company has made arrangements for the running of trains to the military camp at Hempstead Plains to-day. Trains from East Thirty-fourth street will leave at 2:50, 9:50, 11:20 A. M., 1:20, 1:50, 2:50, 6:20, and 10 P. M. From Long Island City ten minutes later-Also from Flatbush avenue station, Brooklyn, at 8: 4, 10, 11:22 A. M.; 1:23, 1:59, 2:50, 6.24, and 10:05 P. M. All these trains will have direct connections for the camp. There will be frequent trains returning.

CAN'T USE THE VOLUNTEERS

M'KINLEY BAYS NEW RECRUITS AREN'T LIKELY TO BE NEEDED.

William Aster Chanler to Disband His Begi ment, but to Kerp in Touch with the Men. In Case the Situation Connecs-Col. Wash-Ington Offers Men to the National Guard Many of the individuals and organizations that have been raising volunteer regiments in the city for the past few weeks have decided to quit enrolling men, and a number of the re-cruiting stations will not open to-morrow. This move is not alone due to the fact that ranks are almost full, but also because of the attitude of the President on the subject of volunteer regiments. It began with the announcement yesterday by William Astor Chapler that the regiment he has recruited and drilled and was all ready to equip for immediate service would have to be disbanded. Mr. Chanler went to Washington on Friday, and when he returned vesterday be said:

When I offered my regiment to the President he informed me that he was grateful for the help that was being offered to him on all sides, but that there would be very little likelihood of any of the volunteer regiments being called upon. I am greatly disappointed over the failure of my plans, for it is plain that even a second call for volunteers will hardly change the situation. When I started the work of raising a regiment I was told by men very close to the President that its services would undoubtedly be needed, and I am informed on good authority that the decision to have the National Guard fill this State's quota was a comparatively recent one.

"I have a regiment of men anxious and willing to go to Cuba and fight. In many ways I regard them as superior to the men of the National Guard. They have all been examined by surgeons, and are splendid specimens of physical manhood. They are well drilled, too, and ready to take the field at a moment's notice.

"I shall disband the regiment now, but will keep in touch with the men, so that if they are wanted I can get them all together again. I have been put to some expense in getting up my regiment, but I don't mind that. I'd willingly spend a hundred times as much to do my coun try a service. For everything to go up in smoke at the last moment, though, is humiliating, and I don't mind saying that I'm a very much disappointed man."

Mr. Chapler showed the disgust he evidently felt as he talked. He was the first man in the field with a volunteer regiment project and was the first to fill his ranks and start drilling his

Col. John W. Marshall, who has recruited 2,000 men for a regiment in a tent in Union Square, has this to say about the position of the Washington authorities on the subject of volunteer regiments:

"I think the President is making a mistake, He is discouraging a movement which, if encouraged, might be the means of making this war a very short one. Once these volunteer regiments that have been recruited are broken up it may not be so easy to get them together again. If any great catastrophe comes to the men who respond to the first call what has the Government to fall back upon! Nothing but aw, untrained, and unorganized men.

"I believe that a camp of instruction should be formed somewhere by the Government and all of the volunteer regiments ordered into it, They should be kept at drill, so that if they are needed they can be sent into the field at a mement's notic trained soldiers. For one I am free to admit that I don't know where I'm at. I shall go on recruiting for a couple of days. but haven't much hope of using the men I have enrolled. The situation may change, but it certainly does look very gloomy."

The Old Guard went right on enrolling men for its regiments at the Bowling Green, City Hall Park, Union Square, and Madison Square tents yesterday. About 500 recruits were secured and the tents will be open again to-morrow, but the members of the Old Guard share the general opinion that their efforts are to come to nothing.

The Lafayette Post recruiting stations will continue to do business to-day, but how much hope they have of using the men they have enrolled in the volunteer brigade the members have been raising is shown by the following statement, issued at the Broadway headquarers late yesterday afternoon:

"The Lafayette Post organization will, on Monday afternoon, commence receiving re-cruits for the regular army from those of their own recruits or others who desire to enter the United States Army at once. This arrangement has been made by Gen. Butterfield with the War Department and the General commanding the army, and, in pursuance of the policy and offer of that patriotic body to do everything possible to hasten and expedite getting recruits into training and service, a surgeon of the United States Army and a mustering officer of the army will be present from 3 to 5 P. M."

Col. W. D'H. Wasnington, who has charge of the local headquarters of the national volunteer reserve movement, in which nearly 350,000 men have seen enrolled, returned from Washington yesterday with the same discouraging news brought back by Mr. Chanler. Last night Mr. Washington called at the Flfth Brigade headquarters and offered Gen. George Moore Smith as many of the reserve's men as he wanted to bring the regiments in the brigade up to their full strength. Mr. Wash ingten said that the chances of using the volunteers were very slim, but that many of the recruits were auxious to get to the front as soon as possible and would be glad to go in with the National Guard, Gen. Smith thanked Mr. Washington and said that he would remember the offer. The national volunteer reserve has made the same offer of men to Gen. Butt of the First Brigade and to

Gen. McLeer of the Second Brigade. Col. T. E. Bloom, whose regiment has been dubbed the "Blues and Grays," is one of the few who are not discouraged by the attitude of the Washington authorities. Col. Bloom closed his recruiting office yesterday for good and will commence drilling his men to-morrow night at the Central Opera House is East Sixty-seventh street. The use of the ballroom of the opera house has been given free by Col. Jacob Ruppert. There will be a meeting of the officers of the regiment to-day.

MISS BARTON AT KEY WEST.

the Has Presented Her Credentials to Admiral Sampson and Is Awaiting Developments. Miss Clara Barton is at Key West with the staff officers of the Red Cross and a corps of nurses, awaiting Navy Department orders or for the next step toward landing the cargo of the relief ship State of Texas in Cuba. Miss Barton telegraphed to Stephen E. Barton of the Central Cuban Relief Committee yesterday that she bad presented her eredentials to Acting Rear Admiral Sampson, through Capt. Harring ton of the Puritan, by special boat to the flagship New York. The Admiral sent a cordial greeting to Miss Barton, and requested her to hold the State of Texas at Key West until further orders. The Red Cross officers are anxious to begin the distribution of supplies in Cuba as soon as possible, but they appreciate that the develop ment of Government plans must be awaited. Meanwhile the contributions keep pouring in from all parts of the country, and when the way is open these supplies will be hurried to Cubs with all speed.

T. M. C. A. TENTS IN CAMP. Libraries Also to Be Provided at Peckskill and Hempstend.

The Young Men's Christian Association has arranged to have tents at both the Peckskill and Hempatead Plains camps. A corps of trained association workers has been assigned to take charge of the camp work, and they will do their best to make the tents attractive to the soldiers. A number of church societies are interesting themselves in the project of the Young Men's Christian Association, and have promised to provi e a library for each camp. Evangelist Moody has consented to become a member of the Advisory Committee which is to have the camp work in charge.

TO EXTEND THE RED CROSS

A FINANCE COMMITTEE APPOINTED FOR THE HOSPITAL HERE.

ngust Belment at Its Head-It Will Take Charge of the Funds Collected and Will Invite Co-speration in Other Cities-Dr. Lesser Says Male Nurses Are Greatly Needed It has been determined that the work of the National Red Cross Hospital, 233 West 100th street, shall immediately be made more general in its character. Many look upon this hospital as a separate institution. It is a mistake to do so, for it is the general headquarters of the National Red Cross organization and is indorsed by Clara Barton. The officers found that the demands on the hospital were becoming so great that a week or ten days ago they appointed an emergency committee composed of William T. Wardwell, Dr. A. Monal Lesser, J. P. Faure, Mrs. John King Van Rensselner, Mrs. John Lyon Gardiner, Sister Bettina Hoffker-L saer, and Mrs. George F. Shrady. At the very first meeting of this committee the members deter-mined that the work of the National Red Cross Hospital should be extended throughout the country and that the best way to do this was to ask fifteen prominent New York men to serve on a finance committee. "This is the whole thing in a nutshell," said

Mr. Wardwell yesterday. "The New York Red Cross Hospital has been designated by Clara Barton, President of the American National Red Cross, as the central organization to provide physicians, surgeons nurses, and such material as may be needed in field hospital service wherever required by the Government authorities, and to receive subscriptions of money that may be tendered for such necessary material in case of war. Therefore, in order to combine and make effect ual the enthusiasm and desire for helpfulness of the great body of the people of the nation, and in order that the people may have entire confidence that the money collected will be faithfully used for field hospi-tal service in case of war, the following gentlemen have consented to serve as a Finance Committee, to have entire charge of the use of such funds and with power to appoint auxiliary com mittees of ladies in New York, and to invite the ofperation of similar committees in other States and cities of the nation: "August Belmont, John P. Faure, ex-Com pissioner of Charities and Public Corrections: Morris K. Jesup, President of the American Museum of Natural History; Alexander E. Orr. President of the Chamber of Commerce; the Rev. Henry C. Potter, Bishop of New York; A. S Solomons, agent of the Baron de Hirsch fund; Frederick D. Tappan, President of the Gallatin National Bank: Dr. George F. Shrady and Dr. T. Gaillard Thomas, consulting surgeons of the Red Cross Hospital; Dr. A. M. Lesser, executive surgeon of the Red Cross, and William T. Wardwell. Treasurer of the Standard Oil Company.

"Four other persons have been selected, but from our inability to see them we are not prepared to give their names out. This Finance Committee will meet at the Manhattan Hotel on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The work of the new committee will probably assume the importance of the old Sanitary Commission. It has a tremendously wide field." When asked if this committee would raise funds, Mr. Wardwell said:

"The Red Cross is never troubled about money We are supported by contributions and women do as much of the contributing as men. Every day ladies, both individuals and societies, are urging us to allow them to do some thing. They wish to become connected with the Red Cross in one way or another, so that they may help in its work. The Squadron A Red Cross Hospital Equipment Association is the first of the kind to effect an organ-ization, and Mrs. Charles F. Roe, I believe, is at the head of it. All ladies who wish information about how they can help the Red Cross can get it by applying to Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer, 40 East Twenty-ninth atreet. She has charge of this auxiliary work." Dr. Shrady was to have lectured to the volunteer nurses on surgery yesterday, but had to postpone his talk until next week. Dr. Frank B. Carpenter took his place. "Bandaging" was his subject and after he concluded he made the volunteers who are not trained nurses try their hands at bandaging those who are. Most of the young women proved by their deftness in handling the bandages that Dr. Carpenter had made his subject very clear to them.

Dr. Lesser said: "What the Red Cross needs in this war is a larger male service, and I wish men would volunteer as the women have done. A number have already volunteered, but we want more. We want men who can carry stretchers and do rough work. Experience has taught that the Red Cross has never yet, in time of war, had a sufficient number of men to save the soldiers who might have been saved. Mr. Van Schelle, the have been saved. Mr. van Schelle, the active chief of the Belgian Red Cross, who called here a few days ago, emphasized this point particularly and cited the battle of Sedan, where on the fifth day after the bettle numbers of men were still on the field unattended.

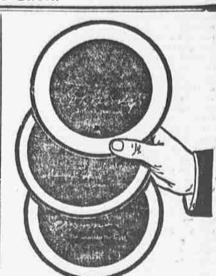

"All men who volunteer will wear the uniform and will rank from private to the highest officer, and we shall give them the very best training we can here in this hospital."

RENDERED INLE BY THE WAR. A Cut-War Down in the Force Ender Shipping Commissioner Dickey.

The war will cause a reduction in the force of United States Shipping Commissioner J. M. Dickey's office at the Battery. There have been so many withdrawals of American vessels from service that less than half the men now employed will be kept busy until peace comes again. Three of the officials have voluntarily given up their places to go to the front. They are Major Michael J. Spelman, Lieut, Luther C. H. R. Woodward and Private Norman J. Halon of the Sixty-ninth Regiment. Five or six other men will be suspended on Monday until the war is over.

American Vessels Apply for British Registry. The owners of two wessels flying the American flag have already applied for British rogistry in order to profit by the war, that may keep many Yankee ships off the seas for a few months.

The vessels are the steamship Seginaw, which used to be the Britisher Benison, and is therefore only a naturalized American; and the bark
